Behind the significant successes of Care & Repair and the thousands of clients it helps, lies the realities of delivering a gold-standard service. Whether at the administrative gateway into the service where expectations are huge, or at the heart of the service in the homes of older clients, where Caseworkers and Technical Officers operate within unplanned scenarios and under unseen pressures, the stakes are high. Care & Repair's person-centred, problem-led service, achieves so much despite spiralling costs and diminishing resources. Come and find out how it rises to the challenges and makes the magic happen.

How Data Can Transform the Work We Do

11.30 & 14.45

- Rob Green, Care & Repair Cymru, Database Project Manager
- Richard Thomas, Care & Repair Cardiff and The Vale, Chief Officer

This workshop explores how you can effectively harness data to improve services for older people across Wales. It highlights how data can be used to prioritise urgent cases, optimise resource allocation, and tailor services to individual client needs. By showcasing successful data-driven interventions and collaborative data-sharing efforts, the workshop will demonstrate the tangible impact of reducing health risks associated with poor housing. Drawing on insights from The State of Older People's Housing in Wales report, it underscores the pivotal role of data in shaping future care strategies. The excellent practices of Care & Repair Cardiff and the Vale, particularly in using Power BI for advanced data analysis, will be showcased, demonstrating how data can drive informed decision-making and better outcomes.
